COMMENTARY

The Baza High Conviction Fund (the Fund) invests in ASX-listed emerging companies with the ability to generate sustainable, long-term shareholder returns. The Fund aims to outperform the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index (Benchmark) over the medium- to long-term. Since inception the Fund has returned +14.0% p.a. compared to the Benchmark return of +6.9% p.a.

The Fund returned +4.3%¹ during January, outperforming the Benchmark which returned +2.7%. Domestic equity markets fared well in January, largely led by the performance of miners that are benefiting from higher commodity prices and increasing fund rotation away from high-growth technology companies.

The Fund's largest contributors were copper explorers, Alma Metals (ALM, +0.7%) and Raptor Resources (RAP, +0.7%), and tin developer, Stellar Resources (SRZ, +0.6%).

ALM are progressing their Briggs Copper Project near Gladstone, Queensland. Briggs is a massive copper porphyry, albeit low grade. Strong copper prices during January buoyed sentiment toward ASX developers and we believe ALM presents one of the most compelling ways to invest in rising copper prices due to its scale and infrastructure advantages. Significant share price appreciation has resulted in base metals & critical minerals being our largest thematic exposure for the Fund (now 18% of the Fund).

The Fund's gold investments also performed positively (+3% in aggregate) with standouts including WA-focused gold explorer Ballard Mining (BM1, +0.5%) and Ardenid (ADV, +0.4%).

Outside of junior mining, water services company Vysarn (VYS, +0.6%) was our largest positive contributor.

The Fund's largest detractors were largely digitisation and emerging industrials companies. Compliance software provider Kinatico (KYP, -0.9%) was the largest detractor to performance. KYP released quarterly results in January that showed +41% SaaS revenue growth along with an increasing cash balance (always a healthy sign). KYP is profitable, has a strong balance sheet, and is benefiting from structural tailwinds such as Aged Care Act reforms (from Nov-25) and the Security of Critical Infrastructure Act which forces Australian businesses (from aged care providers to banks) to strengthen internal compliance functions. KYP's software eases the regulatory burden on companies and provides real-time employee compliance checks. We see significant opportunity for KYP through the regulatory tailwinds and added to our position over the month.

SciDev (SDV, -0.9%) and Symal Group (SYL, -0.4%) also detracted from performance over the month despite no news or sector developments for either company. Both were strong performers in the December quarter.

The Fund is open for investment with applications processed at the end of each month.
