- 1 Post all fees & expenses, assumes reinvestment of dividends
- 2 Beta is calculated as the covariance of the monthly returns of the Fund and S&P/ASX 200 divided by the variance of S&P/ASX 200 returns; a beta of 1 represents movement in line, 0 no correlation, and -1 opposite movements
- 3 Volatility represented is the annualised standard deviation of monthly returns
- 4 Since inception date of 3-Sep-20
- 5 Funds provided directly to companies where a positive screen scale-up was applied is a sub-set of funds provided directly to companies that passed our Sustainable Investment Assessment; it represents fundraising investments that were scaled up by up to 25% due to the strong sustainable investment credentials of the recipient

STRATEGY OVERVIEW & CONTRIBUTION TO RETURNS

The Baza Special Opportunities Fund (the Fund) invests in ASX-listed companies that exhibit deep value characteristics, and special situations. The Fund's portfolio has a different cadence to the broader equity market, seeking to deliver strong absolute returns, capital preservation, low beta relative to the S&P/ASX 200 and low volatility.

Deep value | 52% portfolio exposure | +0.5% contribution to returns for month¹

Companies exhibiting deep value characteristics – share prices supported by net tangible assets and/or representing a low valuation multiple, with a wide margin of safety

Special situations | 45% exposure | +3.7% contribution¹

Investments made in companies subject to a confirmed takeover offer and company fundraising transactions

Cash | 3% exposure

COMMENTARY

The Fund returned +4.2% in April, outperforming all Relevant Indices. The S&P/ASX 200, S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries and S&P/ASX Emerging Companies Accumulation Indices returned +2.2%, +3.3% and +2.7%, respectively.

The Fund has returned +17% p.a. with a beta of 0.62 and volatility of 11% in the last 3 years.

Industrial cooling manufacturer, Adrad (AHL, +0.6%), was the largest contributor to returns in April. AHL has strong clients, refreshed management, and a robust tangible asset base. AHL is benefitting from increasing revenue from data centres, which is additive to their established industrial, transport and mining book. Euroz Hartleys (EZL, -0.3%), was the largest detractor. EZL benefits from positive commodity markets, enhanced risk appetite and a strong WA economy. There is concern that geopolitics, inflation and a rising interest rate environment will stunt these aspects, however EZL has an exceptionally strong balance sheet and a growing recurring revenue base which will assist with a soft landing in a cyclical downturn.

Winsome (WR1, +0.2%) is to be taken over by Li-FT (LIFT.TSXV). The combined entity has compelling strategic and operational elements, and will be dual-listed on the ASX. We have seen takeover arbitrage levels reach over +60% during the transaction process – the highest we have seen in a credible scrip takeover.

Investments in critical & electrification minerals fundraisings performed well. Positive contributors included Viridis (rare earths, +0.3%), Raptor (copper, +0.3% – option exercise), Fortuna (+0.2%, titanium) and Elementos (tin, +0.2%).

Positive screen fundraising case study – Lumos (LDX, -0.2%)

LDX has pioneered a rapid, finger-prick blood test that provides doctors with fast results to determine if a patient has a viral or bacterial infection. It could be hugely impactful in reducing the volume of unnecessary antibiotic prescriptions globally. We invested in LDX's A$20M equity placement.

The Fund remains open for investment with applications processed at the end of each month. The Fund has experienced net inflows month on month since January 2025.
